Zafer Gedikli Halal tourism applications

Islam is a religion that covers all aspects of a person.

As a religion, it can't be confined to prayers only, i.e. you cannot just pray five times a day and wish Allah's consent. A person is responsible for all his doings.

When we say Halal, it can't just be fitted to food. Halal covers the whole life. A person is not relieved of his duties to Allah when he is on trip, business or leisure. Being away from home gives some privileges but Muslim must stay as Muslim.

Today the main issue we face in tourism (both business and leisure) is the lack of Islamic thinking. It is double sided: Both the traveller and facilitator (like hotel, restaurant, tour operator) must think in the Islamic way and do their service as per the Islamic rules.
